Every Thursday, a group of women gather in a private room at a local restaurant to celebrate their successes, support each other, and enjoy some bubbly. This is Champagne Thursday, a weekly gathering founded by Kris Bethke, a successful entrepreneur and author.

Bethke started Champagne Thursday in 2016 as a way to connect with other women who were also balancing their careers and families.

“ "I wanted to create a space where women could come together to celebrate their accomplishments, share their challenges, and support each other," Bethke says. "I wanted to create a community of women who were all working towards their goals and who were willing to help each other along the way." "

Champagne Thursday has quickly grown into a thriving community of women from all walks of life. The group meets every Thursday at a different restaurant in the city. The only requirement for membership is that you be a woman who is committed to supporting other women.

The group's gatherings are always lively and inspiring. The women share their stories of success and failure, they offer each other advice and support, and they celebrate each other's accomplishments.

Champagne Thursday has had a profound impact on the lives of many of the women who attend. For some, it has been a source of support during difficult times.

"I went through a really tough time a few years ago," says one member. "I was going through a divorce and I was feeling really lost and alone. Champagne Thursday was a lifeline for me. The women in the group were so supportive and they helped me to get through that difficult time." "

For others, Champagne Thursday has been a source of inspiration.

"I've been a member of Champagne Thursday for over a year now and it has changed my life," says another member. "I've met so many amazing women who have inspired me to pursue my dreams. I've also learned so much about myself and my own potential." "

Champagne Thursday is more than just a weekly gathering. It is a community of women who are committed to supporting each other and to helping each other reach their full potential.
