

Fortune Favorites Masters Of Rome: A Comprehensive Guide to the Board Game

Fortune Favorites Masters Of Rome is a board game that allows players to take on the role of wealthy patricians in Ancient Rome. Players can use their influence and resources to gain control of the city's economy, politics, and military. The game is designed for 2-4 players and takes about 2-3 hours to play.

The game is played on a board that represents the city of Rome. The board is divided into four sections: the Forum, the Senate, the Circus Maximus, and the Campus Martius. Each section has its own unique set of spaces that players can move their pieces to.

Players take turns moving their pieces around the board and taking actions. Actions can include:

- Moving: Players can move their pieces to any adjacent space.
- Building: Players can spend money to build new buildings in the city. Buildings can provide players with a variety of benefits, such as increased income, influence, or military strength.
- Recruiting: Players can spend money to recruit new legions to their army. Legions can be used to attack other players or defend the city.
- Trading: Players can trade goods and resources with each other. Trading can be used to acquire the resources that players need to build buildings or recruit legions.
- Intrigue: Players can spend influence to manipulate the game in their favor. Intrigue can be used to sabotage other players' plans or to gain control of important positions in the city.

The game ends when one player achieves one of the following victory conditions:

- Conquering the City: A player conquers the city by controlling a majority of the spaces in the Forum, the Senate, the Circus Maximus, and the Campus Martius.
- Becoming Dictator: A player becomes dictator by controlling a majority of the spaces in the Forum and the Senate.
- Controlling the Economy: A player controls the economy by controlling a majority of the spaces in the Market and the Port.
- Raising an Army: A player raises an army by controlling a majority of the spaces in the Barracks and the Training Ground.

The game comes with the following components:

- Game board
- 100 plastic pieces (representing patricians, legions, and buildings)
- 150 cards (representing events, laws, and characters)
- Money
- Dice

There are currently two expansions available for Fortune Favorites Masters Of Rome:

- The Rise of Caesar expansion adds new rules and components to the game, including a new type of piece (the Caesar) and a new victory condition (controlling the Rubicon).
- The Fall of the Republic expansion adds new rules and components to the game, including a new type of piece (the Barbarian) and a new victory condition (destroying the city).

Fortune Favorites Masters Of Rome is a fun and challenging board game that allows players to experience the excitement and intrigue of Ancient Rome. The game is well-designed and has a lot of replay value. I highly recommend Fortune Favorites Masters Of Rome to anyone who enjoys strategy games or historical games.
