How do word sorts work?

Word sorts are typically done in small groups. Students are given a set of words that have been sorted into different categories, such as words with the same vowel sound, words with the same consonant blend, or words with the same spelling pattern. Students then work together to identify the patterns within the words and sort them accordingly.

What are the benefits of word sorts?

Word sorts offer a number of benefits for students, including:

- Improved spelling accuracy
- Increased vocabulary
- Enhanced phonemic awareness
- Improved reading comprehension
- Greater understanding of word structure
